ALL OVER!

The Primary is a Thing of the Past and Quietness Pervades the Land.
It is Time For Thought.

MOST OF THE FIGURES ARE UPSET.

Last Friday a beautiful Spring morning flashed athwart the land and ere the sun had shown his radiant face from behind the gates of the East a battle-royal had begun. Horse and rider, pedestrian and so forth, clad in Primary apparel, some sober, some three "shots" or more in the "wind," wended their way to the poles, some with minds fully matured and some yet to be "fixed" after they got there. Thus and thus the great mass of Republican humanity assembled to engage in selecting a ticket for November.

It is likely that some of the very strongest men in the county were on the ballots to be voted for and apparently a strong fight

Following is the total, majority and plurality vote received by all the candidates throughout the county:

SQUIBBS.

The short stick reached further than the long stick in the County Judge's race.

William Breeding has been in sight twice, but—it's actually too bad, aint it, Will?

Little John Ison made a clean, manly fight, they say, and was "so near, yet so far."

Just two votes, Wash., just two votes, but it was enough! Again, "so near, yet so far."

Since Friday many a patriot has been agonizing, yea, sweating great drops and wondering at what moment official lightning might not strike him.

There was a great battle raging between two opposing armies. The objective point was just ahead. When the battle was at its hottest and with muffled cannon, another army slipped up and carried off the honor. The two armies have been wondering ever since where they are "at" now.

Personally, I am never, never again going to say anything disrespectful of a rolling stone. Out where I live there is a high bank, and every day the nice, big stones roll down into my yard. Then my gardener takes 'em and uses them to put around flower beds.

BURNED OUT

Saturday night about 11 o'clock the Hotel run by B. M. Webb at Appalachia, Va., was burned together with all its contents. The fire broke out in the parlor of the building in some unknown way and was beyond control before assistance could be had. Mr. Webb's loss will amount to over two thousand dollars. The building was worth about ten thousand dollars partly insured.

Why do we say, "As square as a dollar?" A dollar isn't square at all; it is round—and not very much (a)round at that!

SPRING-TIME

There is no season of the year like this. Across the hills and through the vales comes that peculiar lassitudinous feeling that is somewhat akin to poetry. The waters run lazily along and the little minnow sidles up to his mate and they go to some little shady nook. The fowls of the air dress up their plumage and chant their most lovable notes. The mullet stalk that stood on the hill-side, nodding in the wind, shakes out its fuzzy head and drops to the ground, the old sow again stretches her bony frame and roots in the mire for a sprouting nut, yea all nature puts on her best clothes and—well, really feels good.

The Country Newspaper

The average country editor, like the average citizen, is honest and desirous of good government and a healthy social atmosphere. He may and does make mistakes, but when he does it is of the head and not of the heart. How few people realize the value and purpose of the country newspaper? Its value, little as you think about cannot be measured in dollars and cents and its purpose is to carry world-wide intellectual food to its readers. Think of the greatness of this mission. There no character in the world to be pitied more than the person whose mind has starved for want of pure healthy food. Not of the dine novel trashy sort but of the pure and uplifting, Bronson Dead.

Chas. J. Bronson one of the best known men and politicians of the state died suddenly at his home at Lexington a few days ago. He had held many important positions during his life and will be much missed by his political associates.

DIXIE WEBB DEAD.

Dixie, the eleven-year-old daughter of the late Dr. David L. Webb, died at the home of her mother on Bottom Fork last Saturday morning. The little girl had been afflicted for quite awhile with catarrh of the head and this brought about her demise. We extend sympathies to the bereaved friends.

OFF FOR THE HOLE.

Saturday morning, bright and early, most of the defeated candidates gathered here and were given tickets for the Bull-hole. Just as the great conclave had gathered their little "packs" and trudged away some one suggested that they all give bond, waiving execution till after the November election, and thus save the expense of fitting up new quarters for others at that time. This was quickly done and all returned to their homes, amid much rejoicing, sadder, poorer, and it is hoped, much wiser men.

Tom Combs May Run

Thos. A. Combs of Lexington it is said will soon announce for the Democratic nomination for Governor of our state. Mr. Combs is a native of Breathitt County and is one of the shrewdest political fighters in the state. Ben Johnson of the Second Congressional District is also spoken of as a candidate.

Get your muck rake down. The frost is almost out of the ground.

Many a man's failure can be traced to his wife's desire for success.

LOVES THE MOUNTAINS.

Bowling Green, Ky.,
April 16th 1909.

Dear Friends and Readers of the Eagle: Since darkness has settled down over the earth I have retired to our little room and find my mind in a very meditative mood. I can see the dear old streets of Whitesburg jostled and crowded at this hour all anxious and very anxious to learn the result of the Primary which has just passed off. I can hear the happy, hearted laugh of Dan Fields, the flash of the ready wit of Bill Dug and the serene chuckle of Ira Fields: I can almost hear the curses and groans of some honest fellows who have watched the proceedings of the day and I know that those Rules that I set up and printed have been kept sacred. My experience teaches me that clean politics is a rare article and yet I hope that dear old Letcher county has done the right thing.

Speaking of Letcher county, speaking of the mountains arouses fire in my democratic blood. Some how or other I learned to love those hills and the inhabitants thereof, I bless every one of them. I unconsciously find myself tied to them by bands of steel. There I took my first drafts of soberness and thereto I think I plucked a mountain jewel. At the foot of main street in the little old smoke ridden office of the Mountain Eagle I hit some of the hardest licks of my life. There I learned to love all the children of Letcher county and there I formed acquaintances that will last as long as I have a memory.

Dear Little Eaglets: I have just read all the Cousins letters and given it to sister to read. I will write you a few lines you can't imagine how it pleases me to read the new cousins letters.

Yes Silas I am indeed sorry for Mr. Bently for I have a sister who has had to walk on crutches twice, and if I were a voter I think that I would vote for him. Cousins all of you come again.

Your cousin,

Dear Editor and Eaglets:

I come for the first time with this short letter. My home is on Linefork. I am a reader of the Eagle and would like to get in the little folks corner. We are having lots of logging down here and I have been helping for some few days. I will come again

Dear Editor and Eaglets:

Here I come again after a long delay. I am so glad to see so many little new cousins coming and writing such good letters. Hope they will write every month. I think there is nothing like the dear old Mountain Eagle and I never stop until I read all the little letters, especially. Wish we could get some more letters from the soldier boys for their dear mothers sake. Come again, cousins.

Dear Eagle:—Are you dead?

Papa caught a large eagle in a steel-trap a few days ago and I am afraid it might be you. But it surely was not as this old eagle had caught three beautiful young lambs before papa captured it. I am a little boy nine years old, and we are delighted each week when The Eagle arrives. I will write you again if I find out you have not been caught. I am coming over soon to see you make Eagles.

Your little friend,

JAMES P. STIDHAM
WE'RE GLAD.

At the present time I am not able to say anything in regard to the condition of Mrs. J. H. Adams' arm, which was injured by being thrown from a horse two weeks ago. We fear an operation will have to be performed.

Mr. S. C. Tyree has moved to my farm at this place from London, his son Willard is much improved from a severe case of pneumonia.

Wishing the Eagle unbounded success and all my friends good luck, I am as ever, and ever.

First Love

Did you ever see a young man just about the time that the down on his upper lip begins to sprout, fall suddenly in love? Behold what a change! His eyes begin to brighten, his voice to quiver and poesy akin to ecstasy sits enthroned in his very being. He is an object of pity and compassion. By and by when the fever is off and he sees himself in his own kaleidoscope he tucks his head in shame and lies away to the tall timber and stays awhile. When he comes out of his retreat he is indeed a changed being fit for the association of the refined and the sensible.

Health is very good at present in our neighborhood.

Wade Sexton severely wounded himself by cutting his foot with an ax but he is able to walk with the aid of a crutch.

Mr. S. C. Tompkins mine foreman of the Stonega mines accompanied by J. H. Adams of this place has been prospecting no information in regard to their business.

Willie Sergent has been in the wngone spoke business for the past two montes.

John Sergeant is in South Ga. teaching school he is contemplating his return to this county in due time to teach in this county the coming school year.

J. H. Adams planted four acres of Irish potatoes and sowed ten bushels oats, clover etc. says he likes the country fine. Sometimes.

Arrested
Monday Sheriff Crawford arrested Thos. M. Barron the foreman employed on the Eagle and took him to jail. The arrest was made on a telegram from George town charging with felony. Mr. Barron seems to know nothing whatever of the charge. He will await in jail here until the arrival of officers from George town.

EDITORIAL.

GLORIOUS SPRING-TIDE.

In another column we mention the fact that it is spring-time. Well, for emphasis only, we repeat the fact, not that you, gentle reader, do not already know it but that your attention may be called to the importance, the vast importance of the occasion. Now, the birds come to bid the farmer "get a hustle on." The flowers bloom to bedeck his turbid path to the corn-field high up on the hill-side in the head of the hollow; the peaceful whip-poor-will twit-tweet on the gate-post at the eventide to coax the tired farmer into restful snores. Ah, happy farmer, the position you hold, in the minds of sensible people, is envied by them and commands the plaudits of the whole world! "By the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread," was the command of old, and as that truth was heralded forth on its directly divine mission, I imagine the bread became sweeter. Therefore, proud patriots of the soil, bold builders of the home, royal carvers and architects and builders of nations shoulder your home-spun plow-stocks, jerk the winter kinks out of that old "critter" and wade out in your heaven-blessed work.

AS TO THE PRIMARY.

As a medium of public expression, what shall we say of the recent Republican Primary? We can express ourselves in very few words and short phrases by saying that we got about all we craved out of it, and hope all of our friends succeed as well. We enlisted in the work to do our duty and we sleep well at night a very good sign that we did. However, we long in our dreams for another.

We shall say nothing of the rumors, the ravings and cursings with which the air seems to be filled. Of the cause of these we know practically nothing. They say a soldier loves a foe who fights fair and we guess from our experience that this is true.

The Eagle has its policy for the future already carved out. It will have nothing to do or say as to the broils and political quarrels of any one or parties. Its policy is not bought or bound but from a purely business standpoint it knows this is right. So, with these few remarks we dismiss matters like the above from our mind and attempt to get settled again.

JUST A WORD.

The Editor of this paper is a sworn friend to law and order. He believes that in the enforcement of the law lies our only hope as a free people. That the inalienable rights and blood-bought liberty of our people is safe only when the strong arm of the law is upheld. For a number of years the wing of peace, soberness and civilization has been spread over the country. Whether the enforcement of the laws of the land or the good sense of our mountaineers has brought this about we do not profess to know. We believe it has been wrought by both.

At this particular moment thirty-six strong, and as we believe, sensible men are sitting on the "seats of the mighty," in judgment for or against the welfare of our people. The writer knows personally every one of them and he believes they are honest men or they would not have been in the place they occupy. He believes he knows their intentions. He believes that the Grand Jury will inquire diligently as the law demands into every violation and indict where a case can be made. Don't be afraid gentlemen to espouse the cause of your country. Something must be done for our vote selling populace if we have one and if there is any doubt as to the guilt of the party investigated indict anyhow.

The man who will mix with a suspicious crowd of sellers on election day ought to be scared at least from his associations. Don't be deaf to the appeals of hundreds of honest men over the country, go after them with gloves off. The man that can buy himself into office with such "stuff" is pitiable in the extreme and the creature bought is fit only to live in the region of the damned.

Appalachia, Va.

Miss Nellie Harper, visited at Inman Saturday night and Sunday.

A box supper was given at Inman Saturday night in order to raise money to build a Methodist church here in Appalachia.

Rev. Haynes of Elizabethtown Tenn., is conducting a series of meetings here this week.

Sunday evening Mrs. Tip Kilbourn rocked her nine months old baby to sleep, placed it on the bed and stepped across the street to speak to a neighbor. And on returning she found that the child had in some way fastened itself between the foot board and the spring, and was dead when she returned. This very sad affair has cast a gloom over this entire vicinity. The child was buried Monday at Kelly View.

While drilling for water in North Appalachia a vein of gas was struck at a depth of 101 feet and as the drilling continued to the depth of 401 feet the flow of gas became so strong that the drillers had to stop. Those familiar with natural gas say that it will be found in quantities sufficient for domestic use in this town.

M.E. Addington.

THAT BIG EDITION.

Now that the Primary is all over why not all unite in hustling up that Industrial Edition of the Eagle? Every wide-awake Mountain-man ought to be glad to do something and we will not believe otherwise until we know.

Every lick struck will be for the honor, glory and upbuilding of Letcher County and our beloved hill-country. As one man, let us act. June 1st is the date.

Colson, Ky.

W. R. BOGGS

Editor Mountain Eagle: Allow me to say to the good people of old Letcher that I have just returned from the awful Bull Hole and what I saw and heard there is almost beyond description. The first one I saw when I arrived was a young fellow whom I did not recognize. He was sitting astride a pole with his feet thoroughly thronged with strips of raw bull-hide. He was gesticulating wildly and now and then dropping into music as follows: I want to go home so bad, I want to go home To-Lou, I was beat by only two.

Oh, I want to go home To Lou. This fellow looked blear eyed and I decided that he was a chewing gum fiend by the song he was singing.

We all got to the hole about 8 o'clock Saturday morning and after prayer, if poor defeated candidates can pray, and after a kind of a caucus we decided that the men who spent the most money should go down first. That the ones who did the most swapping should go next. Then it was decided that the man who received the smallest vote should go last, and after footling up all the tangles it was readily seen that I should land on top. I saw at a glance that on account of my height, this arrangement could be used to my advantage as the hole would be so full that I could crawl out. When I descended they were all in an uproar. The jailers were lined up against the Assessors, the County clerk against the Sheriffs, the Supts., against Henry Yonts, etc. Nobody accused me of being tied on to anybody else as it was easily seen that I had nothing to tie too. About this time quiet was restored and J. C. Day wanted to write an accident policy for the whole outfit. Billy Dug was offering lame-strings at sixty cents per dozen and Randall Day was trying to organize a Masonic Lodge. But when the balloting began it was found that there were not enough black balls to go around and so the thing broke up with a row.

Knowing that a change of climate is detrimental to health I took along as I thought a bottle of Bell's Pine Tar Honey and along in the afternoon several of the boys claimed they were very sick and thought they were taking Grippe, Mumps, Distemper, Chicken-pox, Ilives, Croup and Hydrophobia. Inquiry was made to ascertain whether there was any medicine in our Hotel. I gallantly brought forth my bottle and found that I had made a mistake and instead of the Pine Tar I had brought a bottle of Wine of Cardui a purely female remedy. I then explained the nature of the treatment, that it might be dangerous for them to take it. But my argument with the boys had about the same effect as the one I made to the people in my race against Henry Yonts. They wanted a dose and they got it. In about fifteen minutes it took effect and they all imagined they were women of all ages and nationalities. Shade Combs wanted to know how many yards of calico it would take to make him a Mother Hubbard. Arnett Mitchell thought himself the mother of twins and was singing them to sleep; Sam Collins was using his jacket for a corset and Elbert Bentley was buttoning it up behind; Luther Baker said he thought there ought to be three gores in a dress skirt and four in the waist; W. R. Boggs wanted to know when was the best time to plant bunch beans and all the rest assumed feminine qualities in every respect. About this time all began talking at once and I decided as I bad gone in last I would come out first, so I slid out and here I am so much the better for the experience.

As the birds sing and the flowers bud determine my friend to be a better man or woman! Its a duty. Well!

Mrs. Webb is very much on the puny list and has been for several days.

It is now reported that nearly all the defeated candidates are in the Bull-Hole.

Judge Blair is right in the Bull hole up to his eyes and actually writes us a letter from that lamentable place.

A warning from him ought to speak pretty loud some other day.

The Grand Jury returned an indictment charging with murder against Harrison Banks for the killing of his brother about two months ago.

It is thought that the case will come up this term of court.

Will R. Halcomb charged with the murder of Isaac Huff on Poor Fork in Harlan County last Summer, is here and expects a trial at this term of court. Mr.
Halcomb is apparently very weak physically and does not stir from his room.

Did you ever hear a defeated candidate attempt to laugh? a pitiful squeak, wasn't it? Sounded like an alarm from the inferno.
At the end of it he plasters it over by saying he knew it before it happened. We are all too much in the habit of knowing things before they happen.

With one of our printers married and gone another looking for a more congenial place in Just Hush!

The Primary over and spring peeping over the hill-tops it is time for our people to awake as to their farm work. Let this years planting be double to what it was last year. We cannot raise too much material on the farm. If three times the amount that is produced on the farm was raised in Letcher county it would not be a waste by any means but every iota of it would bring a good price. Again let every man "get a move on" that that kind of prosperity which is lasting may come to our country. With cribs full of corn and barns groaning with the garnered products of the farm prosperity perches on every man's front gate post.

Woman's Beauty

Some women retain their beauty to an advanced age. But women, who regularly endure pain, age rapidly, for suffering leaves its lasting marks on them.

Nearly all women suffer more or less with some form of female trouble. It should not be neglected.
Avoid the pain—treat yourself at home by taking Cardui, as thousands of other women have done.
Begin at once and give Cardui a fair trial.

TAKE CARDUI.

It Will Help You

Mrs. Katie Burlison, Goreville, Ill., tried Cardui and writes:
"I suffered with female troubles, and was so sick I could not stand on my feet. Finally I began to take Cardui, and soon began to mend. Now I am able to do all my housework and am in much better health than I was before." Try it.
